Rottneros collaborates with Söderberg & Partners and RISE in the field of circular economy

Rottneros has started a collaborative project together with Söderberg & Partners in the area of circular economy. The aim is to achieve measurable targets as part of the Group's sustainability work and potentially increase shareholders' opportunities for returns.

The project will be carried out with the help of the independent and state-owned research institute RISE (Research Institutes of Sweden), which has extensive expertise in the field of circular economy.

Söderberg & Partners is one of Sweden's leading financial advisors and intermediaries of insurance and financial products and services. As part of the cooperation, they will invest in Rottneros shares.

"The development towards increased circularity is close to our heart and we look forward to taking further steps to be among the leaders in sustainability in our industry. Rottneros' overall target is to achieve completely fossil-free production by 2030," says Lennart Eberleh, Rottneros' President and CEO.
